

Rare surgery

Single port laparoscopically assisted vaginal hysterectomy (LAVH), a minimal access surgery was performed, for the treatment of menorrhagia at Max Super Speciality Hospital. The surgery was performed by Dr Dhillon, senior consultant, minimal access surgery and GI surgery and Dr Divya, senior consultant, obstetrics and gynaecology. The patient was suffering from abnormally excessive bleeding. The surgery was done through the umbilicus/navel which leaves no scars on the skin. The surgery is cost effective and the patient can leave for home within a day. After the surgery, pain is minimal as the surgery requires a small cut, which is merely 1 cm in length. Due to size of the cut, bleeding is negligible. — TRIBUNE REPORTERS
