

Department of ENT and Head & Neck Surgery

in association with

Max Institute of Medical Excellence

presents

Clinical Observership in ENT and Head & Neck Surgery

The Department has mission ' to provide better healthcare and to educate those who serve the sick.' The department's major responsibility is to keep physicians, and other healthcare professionals apprised of new information, techniques and technologies in various fields of ENT and head & neck surgery. The department routinely performs advanced skull base surgery, navigational endoscopic sinus surgery, micro ear surgery, BAHA, cochlear implant, endoscopic ear surgery, tracheal stenting, surgery for snoring, microlaryngeal surgery and head & neck surgeries using lasers and harmonic scalpels.

The purpose of this observership program is to provide educational opportunities to physicians, and other healthcare professionals tailored to satisfy the needs of the learner. Content emphasis for activities is on evidence-based information in selected diseases. Topics, format, and location of educational activities are determined by the program director in consideration of educational needs. Observership activities include didactic lectures, live surgery presentations, case discussions, case management and audience participation. Interactivity between faculty and participants is emphasised.

Observership duration: 2 to 4 weeks
